

Talking about the weather is a good way of starting a conversation. People talk about the weather on the phone and in person. Friends and family talk about the weather before they discuss what's new. Co-workers talk about the weather before starting a hard day of work. Even strangers discuss the weather. If you want to talk about the weather, you can use a lot of words and expressions. When we talk about the weather we usually tell how many degrees it is outside. For example, "It is eighty-five degrees (Fahrenheit) / It is twenty-nine degrees (Celsius)." If we want to find out how the weather is going to be, we can listen to a weather report on the radio or on TV. Weather forecasts usually give information about the current day and about the next five days. Listening to the weather forecast helps people decide what to wear when they go outside.

This is CBB and I'm Melanie Smith with the weather. We couldn't ask for a better day for the first day of spring. Right now, it's fifteen degrees and clear. We're expecting blue skies throughout the day with a ten percent chance of showers. It's raining cats and dogs up north, so we should see rain by the morning. Unfortunately, this good weather can't last forever. Don't forget your umbrella tomorrow. And now, let's continue with local news.

We couldn't ask for ... - Nem is kérhetnénk ... right now – éppen most degree – (hő)fok
clear (weather) – tiszta időjárás to expect – várni, elvárni, remélni, számítani valamire throughout – keresztül, át, folyamán
percent – százalék
chance of – valaminek az esélye shower – zápor
It's raining cats and dogs. – Úgy esik, mintha dézsából öntenék.
unfortunately – sajnos
It can't last forever. – Nem tarthat örökké.
local news – helyi hírek
